SECOND HEALTH BOMBSHELL

ANGER: The decision to close the One Stop Shop health suite at Occasio House has been branded naïve and miscalculated

HEALTH services in Harlow were dealt another blow this week with the announcement that a popular walk-in centre for young people is to close in less than two weeks.

Staff at the One Stop Shop health suite in Occasio House were told the centre, which provides a range of support services including a free walk-in sexual health clinic for 13-25 year olds, will be axed at the end of the month because of funding and accommodation "issues".

There are fears the closure of the health suite in Playhouse Square will lead to a rise in sexually-transmitted infections and teenage pregnancies.

The news comes a week after Princess Alexandra Hospital revealed it was cutting 60 beds and losing up to 250 jobs in bid to save cash.

People using the OSS have now started a petition against the decision but say they have not been given enough time to make an impact.

"We have haven't been given any time to fight this or to even find out what the other options are," said Chloe Loughlin (20), of Bushey Croft, who has been using the centre's health services for more than seven years.

"I was stunned when I found out. The OSS is so much more than a sexual health clinic for young people in this town; it is a whole support unit that listens rather than passing judgement. The negative impact of this decision is going to be huge."

The mother of a teenager who regularly uses the facility said the closure was "disgusting".

"Harlow has always had one of the highest STD and teenage pregnancy rates and they are only going to go through the roof once OSS has been closed," she said.

"The only other option for youngsters will be the family planning clinic which is open at awkward times for a few hours on select days, often requires an appointment and doesn't know how to deal with young people."

"A lot of the kids won't feel comfortable going there, and even if they did, how would the clinic cope with an extra 700 patients a month? I appreciate that we have to save money but at what cost?"

The Royal College of Nursing accused West Essex Primary Care Trust of failing to investigate alternative venues or sources of funding for the service and claimed no assessment of the potential impact of its closure on the local community had been carried out.

Mike Kavanagh, RCN regional officer for Essex, said: "The closure of this service will mean that many young people in the area will feel that they have nowhere to turn."

"This service is widely acknowledged to help reduce teenage pregnancies and STDs amongst young people. It is independent, nurse-led and impartial. It is shortsighted of West Essex not to look at alternative venues and funding."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said he was

Man admits indecent assault on boy of 10

A DRUG user who indecently assaulted a 10-year-old boy under the care of social services has been jailed.

Christopher Spooner (33), of Wissants, Harlow, was sent to prison for a total of four years and eight months after pleading guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to charges of indecent assault and taking an indecent image of his victim.

He also admitted seven separate charges of making indecent images and three offences of distributing indecent material.

Andrew Jackson, prosecuting, told the court Spooner had first come to the attention of police in 2008 when they received information from an undercover United States special forces officer that he had been distributing indecent images over the internet.

In January 2009 police were handed a computer memory stick which had been found by youngsters on the roof of the former Liquid nightclub in Harlow town centre. The device contained a number of indecent images as well as photos of Spooner himself.

"One boy put the memory stick in his pocket and it was discovered on him when he was at school," said Mr Jackson. "Teachers became aware and he and other boys were spoken to by police."

"During the investigation Spooner was found to have distributed images to a man who was arrested by Devon and Cornwall Police, and to an undercover United States Special Forces officer."

The court was told that when Spooner was arrested at his home in Harlow on November 1 last year he was found dismantling a mobile phone containing indecent images.

Police discovered a total of 4,490 indecent images, some rated at the highest level of severity and 198 of which had been distributed.

Katherine Spears, representing Spooner, said in mitigation the defendant had been taking crack cocaine and heroin at the time the offences were committed and was now "disgusted" with himself.

"He was blamed by his father for the loss of his mother after his low-level shoplifting and jail sentences made life more difficult for her," she added. "He's attempted to take his own life with an overdose and by slashing his wrists and is now disgusted with himself for what he's done and wants help."

As well as jailing Spooner, judge Karen Walden-Smith made him the subject of an indefinite sex offenders prevention order.

"This involved a large number of images, distribution of still and moving images and indecent assault," she told the court. "I think he presents a high risk to the public, particularly young boys."

Anger over OSS health suite axe

"100 per cent against" the closure. "I was unaware of this decision by the PCT and am incredibly unhappy with it," he told the Star.

"The result will be fewer kids visiting the doctors and suffering for it. Plus it will clog up already overwhelmed GP surgeries."

"I don't understand why the PCT are doing this, especially as they are getting an extra £12m funding from the Department of Health this year."

A spokesman for NHS West Essex said the decision to close the OSS health suite had been difficult but insisted the service was no longer viable.

"The funding from Essex County Council finished earlier than expected which has caused issues with ensuring that there is an adequate staffing cover for safe working processes," he said.

"Furthermore, as a result of the dissolution of the multi-agency arrangements also using the premises the health component provided is no longer viable."

Soccer star pitches in at sports club's family day

ENGLAND international and Aston Villa defender Luke Young returned to his hometown of Harlow on Sunday to officially open the football pitches at a new sports club.

He took time out from his busy pre-season schedule to meet and greet guests at Paringdon Sports Club's family open day.

The sports complex in Paringdon Road only opened up to the public last month but has already seen a number of local clubs sign up to use its facilities as their base for the new season.

Co-owner Troy Mead told the Star: "It was a great day out and everyone really enjoyed meeting Luke, who was brilliant."

"He admitted that as a boy he used to climb the fence into the grounds to play football with his friends, and said it was fantastic that it was now open for people to become members and use our excellent facilities."

"We'd like to thank him and his family for attending our event and really appreciate him giving up his time to join us."

We want Corey to lead a normal life

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE parents of a youngster suffering from a cranial deformity are desperately trying to raise funds to pay for treatment.

Louise Denton (40) and Lee Sheppard (39) first noticed their son Corey's head looked misshapen compared to his twin brother Luca's when the tots were just four weeks old.

When the symptoms continued to get worse, the couple, who live in Woodcroft, Harlow, researched online and realised Corey was suffering from Plagiocephaly – or flat head syndrome.

"We took him to the doctors who confirmed that he had Plagiocephaly quite severely," said Louise, who works for the East of England Ambulance Service.

"It is a condition they believe is caused from pressure on the baby's soft skull when they are lying on their backs in a cot. Though it is becoming more common, it is still largely unheard of."

Often babies who suffer with Plagiocephaly grow out of it. However, some can be left with permanent deformities affecting the child's jaw, ears, eyes and teeth alignments and potentially causing headaches and hearing problems.

Treatment is a non-invasive procedure which involves the baby wearing a corrective helmet 23 hours a day for up to six months. However, the helmet costs almost £2,000 and must be used before the skull starts to fuse together at 12-18 months.

"Corey is already 14-weeks-old so we need to make as much money as possible as quickly as possible for him to have the band fitted by September for the best effect," said Louise.

"It is our aim not only to raise the funds for Corey's treatment but to also continue to raise money for the Headstart4Babies charity which helps to make more people aware of this condition and its treatment."

So far Louise, Lee and next door neighbour Michelle McCarthy have arranged to do a skydive in August to help raise funds. They have also arranged a raffle and charity football match at The Link on August 8 from 6.30pm.

"We would be really grateful to anyone who supports us and would also be really appreciative to any local businesses able to help by donating items for our raffle."

"You would be helping Corey to lead a normal, healthy life as well as hundreds of other children suffering a similar condition."

To sponsor Louise and Lee, visit www.justgiving.com/corey-chunky-monkey. To donate items for the raffle, email Louise at wehavetwins.dargan@gmail.com.

Shelter puts out a plea over cats

A LOCAL cat shelter has put out a desperate plea to animal lovers after becoming overwhelmed by new intakes.

The Chestnut Cat Sanctuary in Epping is currently full to capacity with more than 75 rescue, stray and unwanted cats and kittens and needs to re-home the animals after financial pressures are forcing the sanctuary to downsize.

Manager Gill Beard said: "The poor financial climate has really affected us. There are fewer people coming in to adopt our cats and some have now been here for months."

"We are urging anyone thinking about getting a cat to come and see what we can do for you. We have animals to suit every personality who really need a loving home."

For more information about adopting a cat, or to make a donation to the sanctuary visit the website at www.chestnutcatsanctuary.co.uk.

Foodbank helps 3,000+ people

AN emergency food scheme supporting Harlow residents in crisis has already helped to feed 3,143 people since opening just two years ago.

Harlow Foodbank was opened in April 2009 in partnership with local churches, schools and businesses to provide free food to those requiring assistance.

Since then it has distributed 32 tonnes of food into the community donated by its partners.

Director of community services Gary Knott said: "We see families every day who are so grateful for a simple food box and we are delighted that the local community has been so supportive."

Harlow Foodbank is currently looking for a large warehouse in the town. If you can help, please call (01279) 724515.

Lottery winners

The winner of the £1,000 first prize in the weekly St Clare Hospice lottery draw on Friday, July 15 is ticket holder 304527, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 215497, who also lives in Harlow.

Triathlon pair make a PACT to help charity

TWO Harlow men are warming up to swim, cycle and run their way through London in aid of a local autism support group.

Neighbours Dave Creedon (43) and Iain Freeman (40), of the Gardiners, will be taking part in the London Triathlon together on July 30 to help raise money for the Harlow PACT group (Parents of Autistic Children Together).

The pair, who are competing in the sprint run which involves a 400m swim, 20km bike ride and 5km run, decided to support PACT after seeing the group's good work first hand through Iain's wife Michelle, who is one of the organisers.

"PACT are just going from strength to strength and doing amazing things for those affected by autism in the community right now," said Iain.

"However they are completely reliant on donations so both me and Dave really want to raise as much money as possible for them."

The men, who are being sponsored for the event by the Harlow Shotokan Karate Club where Dave instructs part-time, say they have been overwhelmed by the amount of support they've received.

"Everyone has been absolutely incredible," Dave said.

"The members of Shotokan Karate Club have been brilliant and I think we have over 60 people coming down on the day to cheer us on. It is quite overwhelming."

He added: "It is my first triathlon and Iain's second so I am feeling a bit apprehensive. However, training has gone well and we are both confident about completing it. We are just eager to get on with it now."

To sponsor Dave and Iain, visit www.pactharlow.org.uk.

County looks to save cash by turning off street lights

HUNDREDS of street lights in Harlow are set to be switched off for five hours each night to save money and reduce carbon emissions.

Cash-strapped Essex County Council plans to turn off around 70 per cent of the town's lampposts between midnight and 5am.

The only areas likely to be excluded are the town centre, key road junctions and accident black-spots.

County Hall, which has been running a pilot scheme in Maldon and Uttlesford since early 2007, said there has been no increase in reported crime or road collisions in either district.

Tracey Chapman, cabinet member for highways & transportation, said: "It is imperative that we take action to reduce our carbon emissions and energy expenditure, and part-night lighting will make a major contribution towards achieving this.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"Moving to part-night lighting is not a decision that we have taken lightly. The pilot scheme in Maldon and Uttlesford has demonstrated that it does not contribute to an increase in crime or road collisions."

The move is part of a phased countywide "modernisation" programme which will see photocells – the component that tells each light to switch on and off depending on the time of day – replaced by a high-tech system that allows lampposts to be controlled remotely.

The council was unable to confirm exactly when the changes would be implemented in Harlow but pledged to consult with Harlow Council and local emergency services before starting work.

Cllr Chapman added: "There will be full consultation in each district and borough before any decision is taken on which areas will be included in the scheme."

But Tony Durcan, Labour county councillor for the Harlow West division, said he feared the authority's plans would compromise road safety and lead to an increase in crime.

"The pilot scheme in Uttlesford may not have led to an increase in crime or road accidents but Harlow is a very different place," he told the Star this week.

"With policing already set to be cut back and now reduced lighting, I'm worried this could place people, property and motorists at great risk."

"Residents should be consulted before any decision is taken to switch off street lighting in Harlow. The county council may own the bulbs but we as residents pay the bills."

Draw winners pick up bus pass prizes

A HARLOW bus firm's monthly prize draw proved just the ticket for the lucky winners of three free passes.

Harlow resident Adrian Browne scooped the top prize of a year's free bus travel in the Network Harlow competition, with runners-up Ian Kelsey and Sandra Freeman each taking home a free three-month pass.

Bob Dorr, regional director of Arriva subsidiary Network Harlow, said: "I was extremely pleased to be able to present the July season ticket prizes to our lucky winners and would like to thank the many hundreds of Network Harlow customers for entering our prize draw."

"Our new Network Harlow brand will be a phased implementation in Harlow for all of our local bus services. There will be another draw in August, so please have another go!"

RSPCA search for dog owner who filmed cat attack

AN investigation has been launched into claims a man filmed his dog attacking and killing a cat on a Harlow street.

The incident is believed to have taken place in Markwell Wood last Wednesday and was captured on the dog owner's mobile phone.

The RSPCA received reports that the man – described as tall and white with short hair and wearing tracksuit bottoms and a blue t-shirt – made no attempt to stop his cream-coloured greyhound-type dog attacking the cat.

RSPCA inspector Steve Craddock said: "There is no doubt this man has been showing his film around and boasting about it so other people must have seen it.

"This poor cat suffered unbelievable pain. We would urge anyone who knows who is responsible for this to contact us."

Anyone with any information regarding the incident can contact the RSPCA anonymously on 0300 123 4999.

We must defend hospital services

SIR, As a local councillor and an ex-PAH nurse, I was shocked by the decision to make 250 staff redundant and close 60 beds (Star, July 14).

I received a copy of a document around transformation which I suspect is soft wording that really means cutbacks, closures and the destruction of the NHS.

It appears there are two main issues. One is the Government reduction in funding to the NHS and the other is pure poor leadership.

In the last year the trust has failed to provide 1,247 procedures in theatres. This means 1,247 local people have had to wait or have operations cancelled.

The outpatient unit has the highest rate of missed appointments or cancellations, currently running at 32.7 per cent or one in three. The rate for the East of England is 20.9 per cent and for the whole of England it is 19.5 per cent

As a local councillor I was alarmed that so many people will be losing their jobs but many more will have less access to health services as a result of these planned closures.

Where is the community leadership that is willing to stand up and fight and defend our local hospital and local services? Why is our MP so silent on the issue?

People aren't going to stop being ill. We can't stop caring for patients. The real truth is that unless you double all community services straight away we have a major gap.

The Government funding rules are about robbing Peter but also mugging Paul.

My main point is that the solution is in leadership and sensible management, something we don't have from our MP or from the hospital trust board.

Don't make hardworking staff redundant. Why not sack the whole board and replace them with a local leadership team that believes and operates to the true principles of the NHS?

If the Tories believe in a Big Society then give back our hospital fully funded to our community. This trust doesn't deserve foundation status and it won't be receiving my support. I hope I'm not alone.

Councillor Tony Durcan (Labour)
Rundells, Harlow

Balancing books at patients' expense

SIR, I have just read the sweeping statement that the forthcoming voluntary redundancies at PAH will have little or no impact on clinical services.

I'm not sure how this can be achieved unless the redundancies will be restricted to office staff and natural wastage of staff who were due to retire over the next few years.

I gather that all the employees have been offered redundancy subject to approval of a management redundancy board. My question is who on the management board will be in a position to understand the impact redundancies will have on support services such as the pharmacy, clinical records and ward management - in other words those that make the hospital function efficiently.

A succession of governments have imposed paper targets on all the hospitals which in turn has generated a whole army of pen-pushers who add very little to the patients' wellbeing.

I have had first hand experience of witnessing a West Essex PCT finance board meeting at which some 30 people, most of whom contributed very little, sat around a table for several hours.

The agenda seemed to be based on cost savings which impacted the way patients were being referred from one consultant to another or ensuring that the accident and emergency department was able to cross

Look at Labour's record of failure

SIR, Harlow Council's proposals for seeking stronger futures for its popular services seem to have Labour in a dither.

On the one hand they claim we are selling off the family silver - which we are not - and then ask why we don't explore different ways of running the services, which we are.

What else would you call a conference with private and third sector organisations other than seeking options?

For a major party, Labour's lack of understanding of how charities work is a concern. Labour's only response to these issues was to throw money - our money - at it and this is reflected in their claim that the services need the assurance of core funding.

If you look at any of the successful charities in the town - CAB, Young Concern, BATTs or GPCA - not one of them relies on core funding from the council. Some may have Service Level Agreements for the provision of specific services against regular monitoring.

These groups survive because they are well managed, provide a service that is valued and obtain their own funding.

What is even more worrying is that Labour have no plan B for the running of these services. They failed to put up an alternative budget this year, they failed to highlight their priorities and failed to explain how they would manage the council out of Gordon Brown's economic crisis. Failure, failure, failure.

It is the Conservatives who are working better and smarter, delivering better services and freeing council tax. And it is the Conservatives who are providing leadership through these challenging times.

Councillor Simon Carter (Conservative)
Mark Hall Moors, Harlow

charge other PCTs for people who were unlucky enough to require hospital treatment whilst visiting the Harlow area. Is this what the NHS has come to; bureaucrats balancing their books at the expense of the general public? We are no longer individuals, just an expense that we can no longer afford.

It's madness to take away beds

SIR, As a former employee of PAH I cannot believe that the sacrifice is going to be back office positions and beds.

The department I worked in had far too many management positions compared to the ratio of staff - one manager and two supervisors to four staff. That manager had to report to two other managers before even getting to the top of the chain and I do not mean the chief executive.

I know for a fact that this is still the case in the department I worked in and is the case in many others.

It is quite clear any redundancies that need to be made should be within the management areas and not the back office staff who are what make the hospital work with regards to administration. Without them there will be serious consequences.

As for the beds, how on earth can a hospital covering Harlow, Bishop's Stortford, Epping, Ongar, Waltham Abbey, Loughton and the villages inbetween afford to lose any beds? It is bad enough that there are not enough but to take more away is surely madness.

The whole hospital needs restructuring and more time spent on actually working to provide the public the service that they pay their taxes for.

Maybe management pay cuts are what is required before beds are taken away.

Kate Sagers

These cuts are to frontline services

SIR, I watched David Cameron at the dispatch box promising that the cuts to the NHS would not affect frontline services.

In last week's Star Princess Alexandra Hospital's chief executive officer Melanie Walker announced the closure of 60 beds and the loss of up to 250 jobs. This has been caused by an imposed cost saving target of £17m.

Perhaps Mr Cameron or our MP Robert Halfon could explain to me how the closure of hospital beds is not a cut in frontline services?

Bob Johnson
Wissants, Harlow

Fuel addiction is a hard habit to kick

SIR, Robert Halfon's publicity stunt in pushing a car along Whitehall only serves to illustrate what fantastic value for money one litre of petrol represents.

I don't think he and his chums would want to push a vehicle several miles to be paid £1.50p (minus tax only 60p or 10p each for pushing a car about 10 miles).

We have become so used to cheap fuel that we have lost sight of the true value of the work it does for us.

With oil becoming harder to extract, conflicts for control over what's left and long-term damage to the climate, our 100-year-old consumption, dependency and finally addiction to hydrocarbons is going to be a painful habit to kick.

Stephen Archer
Old Orchard, Harlow

Grateful for such a kind gesture

SIR, I would be most grateful if I could use the Star's letters page to thank very warmly the kind person who found my lost bicycle lock keys in Canons Gate and passed them to Harlow Police.

I called in to the police station as a last resort, never dreaming that anyone would have handed them in and was so delighted to discover they were there.

I do hope my kind benefactor reads the Star and will realise how happy I am as a result of their neighbourly gesture.

Whoever you are, I really appreciate the care you took.

Council leader looks to the future at civic service

LOCAL dignitaries joined the congregation at St Paul's Church in the town centre on Sunday for Harlow Council's annual civic service.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, council chairman Mike Garnett and council leader Andrew Johnson gave readings during the service which was led by Rev Robert Findlay. The Broadfields Primary and Nursery School choir sang All Things Bright And Beautiful.

In his address, Mr Johnson said: "Our history stretches back to the Domesday Book and the settlement around what we now call Old Harlow to the hugely ambitious New Town of the late 1950s.

"Generations of people moved from east and north London to make their home here. The exciting thing is that Harlow is continuing to grow and renew itself through projects like the redevelopment of the town centre, the market area and our bid to become an enterprise zone - that's a lasting legacy for future generations."

A collection was split between Harlow homeless charity Streets2Home, interfaith group Heart for Harlow and schools charity Place2Be.

Classroom ban for 'sex chat' teacher

A TEACHER who engaged in "inappropriate communications" with pupils in online chat-rooms while employed at a Harlow school has been banned from the classroom.

The professional conduct committee of the General Teaching Council ruled that Mark Pledger was guilty of unacceptable professional conduct whilst employed at Stewards School and then Alderman Blaxhill School in Colchester.

It found that in January 2007, while working as a PE teacher at Stewards, he communicated inappropriately

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

with two girls - referred to as Pupils A and B - on an online chat site.

"The nature of the communication was inappropriate in that it was sexually allusive, including asking one pupil about what she was wearing and going to bed. The pupil was also asked to stand up whilst the webcam facility was being used."

Then, whilst employed as a PE and maths teacher at the Colchester school between June 2007 and July 2009, he engaged in inappropriate behaviour with a third girl, named as pupil C, on an online chat site.

The committee found that he accessed sexually explicit images of pupil C on his school laptop and also accessed and stored pornography on the machine.

Committee chairman Paul Bird said: "The inappropriate communication, particularly with pupil A in January 2007, together with the inappropriate behaviour with, and accessing of images of, pupil C are extremely serious matters of conduct."

"Mr Pledger has admitted that his behaviour with Pupil C was sexually motivated."

He added: "Registered teachers are expected to put the wellbeing, development and progress of children and young people first. Mr Pledger's conduct failed to do this."

"He has failed to behave in a way that upholds public trust and confidence in the teaching profession, especially in regard to his duty to safeguard children."

Mr Bird said members of the committee were in no doubt Pledger's conduct was unacceptable and fell well short of the standards expected of a teacher.

Issuing a prohibition order banning Pledger from teaching, Mr Bird said the committee was concerned the case revealed behaviour fundamentally incompatible with being a registered teacher.

"If he were to return to teaching it seems likely he would be a popular PE teacher and, having twice behaved in this way, the committee is very concerned that the conduct might be repeated," he said.

Pledger will not be permitted to apply to be restored to the teaching register for three years. If and when he does so, he will have to persuade a panel that he is fit to teach.

Pledger, whose home address was not disclosed, has the right of appeal to the High Court within 28 days.

Airport ruling sparks new M11 junction call

THE leader of Harlow Council has called on the future owners of Stansted Airport to support calls for a new junction on the M11 north of the town.

Reacting to the Competition Commission's ruling that current operator BAA must put the airport up for sale within the next three months, Cllr Andrew Johnson told the Star the announcement could pave the way for better transport and business links with Harlow.

"Stansted Airport has permission in place to double its annual number of passengers to more than 30 million on the existing runway," he said.

"Harlow offers a fantastic base for companies dealing with the airport and residents can benefit from the huge variety of jobs on offer.

"But we have to make sure we have the transport links in place and that means a new junction – 7a – to ensure we keep the M11 running smoothly.

"That is key to Harlow sharing in the success of a thriving airport on our doorstep."

Tuesday's Competition Commission ruling on the future of the airport's ownership came after the monopolies watchdog rejected BAA's

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

claim there had been "material changes in circumstances" since it was provisionally ordered to auction off the Essex hub in March.

Despite a series of legal challenges, the commission maintained that the sale of the airport was "fully justified" and insisted that passengers and airlines would benefit from greater competition with the facility under separate ownership.

Peter Freeman, chairman of the watchdog's BAA Remedies Implementation Group, said: "We hope the sales can now proceed without delay so that passengers and airlines can start to enjoy the benefits of greater competition.

"Our report has been challenged, reviewed and upheld and it is clear that the original decision to require BAA to divest three airports remains the right one for customers."

But BAA chief executive Colin Matthews called the decision "an unreasonably draconian demand", arguing that being forced to sell airports in a difficult market could destroy shareholder value.

First aider Katie praised for calm response to emergency

A QUICK-thinking teenager has received an award for her actions in helping an injured stranger.

St John Ambulance nursing cadet Katie Clarke (18), of Wedgewood Drive, Harlow, received the Young First Aider of the Year award for helping to look after a man who was badly injured during a paintballing session.

Even after both a land and air ambulance team attended the scene, Katie continued to assist with the patient and was praised for showing "great maturity" in coping with the emergency situation.

Katie said: "The casualty was a man in his late 40s who was in a lot of pain with a badly-dislocated ankle which was facing backwards.

"I carried out a top-toe survey and kept him calm until the air ambulance arrived."

Katie, who will begin studying to become a nurse at the University of Surrey later this year, is pictured receiving her award from Neil Fenwick, Essex St John Ambulance's acting commissioner for youth. The Lord Lieutenant of Essex, Lord Petre, who is also president of Essex St John Ambulance's Council, said: "Our volunteers are a truly remarkable group of people who give up so much of their own time to serving others.

"In many cases the service they provide is quite literally the difference between a life lost and a life saved."

"We hope to showcase and demonstrate all that is great about sport and leisure in and around Harlow," explained activeharlow chairman Rob Ellis.

"We hope the local community businesses and cultural organisations seize the opportunity to get involved in this day which will have something for everyone."

Pub's treat for cider drinkers

CIDER fans can sample 12 new tipples during a Harlow pub's first festival dedicated to the drink.

The William Aylmer, in Kitson Way, has sourced draught and bottled ciders from a range of producers across England, Wales and France for the event, which starts today (Thursday) and runs until Sunday July 31.

Pub manager Philip Stanyon said: "Cider is proving increasingly popular with our customers and I'm sure they will enjoy the opportunity to enjoy ciders not usually available in the pub."

MP starts his search for next apprentice

THE student working as an apprentice to MP Robert Halfon has encouraged other youngsters to fill his shoes as his year-long placement comes to an end.

Andy Huckle will leave his post to concentrate on completing his A-levels later this month.

"I have learnt so much during my year with Robert and have been involved in so many projects which have certainly taught me a lot and helped me immensely with my studies," he said this week.

"I would certainly encourage anyone with an interest in politics and current affairs and who wants to find out more about the workings of Parliament to seriously consider applying for the position."

Mr Halfon was the first MP to appoint a paid apprentice to work as part of his team.

"People will know that I am a firm believer in apprentices and apprenticeships and continue to campaign to ensure they are given the praise and standing in local business that they deserve," he said.

"Andrew has had a brilliant year, meeting the Prime Minister only earlier this month, running events in Harlow and helping with research in Parliament."

Mr Halfon is now searching for someone aged 16-18 to take Andy's place. Students applying for the position should email a covering letter and CV to Tracy Andrews at tandrews@harlow-college.ac.uk by September 29.

Wait's over for homes hopefuls

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MORE than 50 people on the social housing register have been moved into new flats in Harlow town centre.

Figures released by Harlow Council this week reveal that 36 out of 40 homes available to the authority at the newly refurbished Joseph Rank Apartments in Kitson Way have already been let by housing firm Luminus Group.

The fully decorated one- and two-bedroom flats in the converted office block have been allocated to 18 single people, two expectant mothers, 10 single parents with one child and six couples with one child. All the new tenants are from Harlow.

Clive Souter, the council's portfolio holder for housing, said it demonstrated the authority's commitment to reducing the number of people on its housing register.

"There is great pressure on social housing in the town and the council is working hard with housing associations to create new homes for rent," he said.

"Over the last year, 97 per cent of homes allocated through the council have gone to people living in Harlow and in the case of Joseph Rank House it shows nobody from outside the town is jumping the housing queue.

"By providing new homes we are freeing up council properties which can be given to other local people on our housing register so there is a clear knock-on benefit."

A council spokesman said a further 13 new properties – eight three-bedroom houses, four two-bedroom apartments and one two-bedroom apartment – at Barratt's Fifth Avenue development would soon be ready for allocation on a shared ownership basis.

"With building continuing at Newhall and work soon to start on developments at Clifton Hatch, Faircroft, Little Brays and the former swimming pool site on Park Lane, more affordable homes will become available in the near future," he added.

Pamper night proceeds donated to kids' ward

A PAMPER night held by a local childminding group raised more than £600 for the children's ward at Harlow's Princess Alexandra.

Church Langley Childminders sold about 130 tickets for the evening held at the Meadows Sure Start centre, laying on canapés, champagne and a whole range of beauty and health stalls and treatments for people to try and buy.

Vice-chairwoman Julia Wilson said: "We have been doing fundraising events like this for a few years now and usually raise money for Great Ormond Street Hospital.

"However, this year we all thought it would be nice to support a local cause and decided to raise money for Dolphin Ward at PAH.

"The evening was a great success and we know the money will go towards supporting families in our community."

Fire investigators to probe derelict house blaze

A FIRE which caused extensive damage to a derelict house in Harlow on Monday night is believed to have been started deliberately.

Fire crews were called to the property in London Road shortly after 11.30pm. By the time they arrived the building was already 50 per cent alight.

Firefighters used an aerial ladder platform to train water hoses on to the blazing building.

Eyewitness Mark Didcock, of Newhall, told the Star: "I was about to go to bed but got back up to see what all the noise was outside.

"It must have been a big fire. The whole skyline was lit up and the following morning my car was completely covered in ash."

An investigation into the cause of the fire will now be carried out by Essex County Fire and Rescue Service.

Crash biker skidded into car after wheel locked

A MOTORCYCLIST was killed instantly when he lost control of his bike during a torrential downpour and skidded into the path of an oncoming car, an inquest heard on Friday.

Sascha Brand (28), of Parsonage Leys, Harlow, was overtaking traffic on the B1393 at Thornwood Common on the morning of January 17 this year when the accident happened.

Eyewitness Howard Seaman (48), from Dunmow, told the hearing at Chelmsford how Australian-born Mr Brand, who had not been riding fast, passed his car in the line of slow-moving traffic in heavy rain.

"He drew level with the car in front of me and for no reason I could see he lost the front end," said Mr Seaman.

"It just slipped from underneath him and he fell headfirst into the other side of the road where unfortunately a car was coming the other way.

"It happened so quickly that there was nothing anybody could possibly do."

Cab driver Ian Rogers told the coroner he had dropped off a fare at Epping station and was heading back to Harlow when the accident happened.

"All I saw was headlights coming towards me," he said. "I didn't see the rider coming off; the first time I was aware something had happened was just when I heard a thud at the front and looked in the rear view mirror and saw the gentleman lying in the road."

He added: "There was absolutely nothing I could have done differently. I absolutely wish that there was."

The inquest heard that Mr Brand, who lived with his sister and her husband, died at the scene from multiple injuries.

Police investigator Sergeant Richard Raker told the inquest that Mr Brand had applied heavy braking which momentarily locked the front wheel of the bike. This had caused it to fall on to its offside and directly into the path of Mr Rogers' vehicle.

He estimated Mr Brand was travelling at about 22mph when he lost control of the bike, adding: "Excessive speed was not the cause of the accident."

Essex assistant deputy coroner Eleanor McGann recorded a verdict of accidental death.

VICTIM: Sascha Brand

Hunt for pair who stole man's phone

POLICE have this week issued an appeal for witnesses to an assault in which a man was attacked and robbed near Harlow town centre.

The incident happened at around 7pm on June 18 as the 23-year-old victim walked along the cycle path on Third Avenue.

As he approached the ASDA store he was approached by two men who assaulted him and then stole his mobile phone and a small amount of cash.

The suspects are described as white and aged in their late teens to early 20s. One was about 5ft 10ins tall, of slim build and wearing a green hooded jumper and black trousers while the second was 5ft 6ins tall, with short dark hair and wearing black Adidas jogging bottoms and a black hooded jacket with the hood up.

Anyone with information about the incident should contact PC Shelley Tarling at Harlow police station on 0300 333 4444.

PASSMORES: Students tried their hand at working life when they spent a day helping out at a local Co-op store as part of a community day. Six students from the Tendring Road school took turns in the various job roles including working in the bakery, sorting deliveries, stacking shelves and serving on the counter.

They also dressed up in a Scooby Doo costume to sell raffle tickets in aid of learning disability charity Mencap. Integrated youth services and alternative education officer Jo Buffon said she couldn't have been more proud of them. "It was a really hot day, yet all the boys took everything in their stride," she said. "So many people praised their efforts and gave tips which they all decided to donate to the raffle takings, raising £150. "There were no complaints and though they were exhausted and learnt how hard real work is, they all really enjoyed themselves." Pictured, left to right, are Ben Doyle, Lara Myers, Ben Wills, Dan Ashton, Curtis Blakeburn and Alfie Falconer. (photo: HAR0749376)

JEROUNDS Globetrotting youngsters got a taste of life in other countries when they held an 'around the world' café day. Children from the Pyenest Road primary prepared and sampled traditional treats from Mexico, China, Japan, Kenya, India and Australia. They also learned about the different cultures, religions and music throughout the geography-themed week. Geography subject leader Dean Doyles said everyone had really enjoyed themselves. "This is an annual event and always very popular with our students," he said. "It gives the pupils a chance to experience different countries and their cultures, and gives them an idea of what that country might be like. The week was a big success."

MILWARDS PRIMARY Swimmers made a splash to raise cash for the neonatal unit at Addenbrookes Hospital in Cambridge in memory of a Harlow tot. Pupils and their parents took part in the sponsored swim at Stewards School in remembrance of Frankie

Lee Cable, who after being born 16 weeks prematurely passed away at the hospital aged just five months. The swim was the first in a series of fundraisers being organised by Frankie's grandmother Sue Aquilina, of Little Cattins, Harlow. "Everyone at the hospital was fantastic so I'd like to give something back. If one more person doesn't have to go through what we did then we have done a good job." She added: "The sponsored swim was a lovely day and I was so touched by all the support we received. We hope to have raised around £300 which is a brilliant start."

Three arrests in crackdown on burglaries

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

THREE people – two of them from Harlow – have been arrested on suspicion of burglary following a crackdown by Essex and Hertfordshire police.

Five warrants were executed on Monday in an operation targeting suspects who police believe were responsible for break-ins carried out at homes in the two counties last month.

Two 19-year-old men from Harlow were arrested on suspicion of burglary and one 21-year-old woman from Bishop's Stortford was arrested on suspicion of conspiracy to commit burglary.

A number of items which officers believed to be stolen property have also been recovered.

Inspector Lewis Basford, of Essex Police, said the joint operation had been a success.

"Working with our colleagues in Hertfordshire, a number of individuals living in the Harlow and Bishop's Stortford area were identified as being believed to be responsible for burglaries across the two forces during the month of June," he said.

"We will continue to investigate and act positively on any information given to us about people suspected to be committing crime.

"Rest assured that we will target them at any time of day or night and where appropriate, place them before the courts. We aim to ensure our communities remain a safe place to live and work in."

He added that police relied on information from members of the public to help bring perpetrators to justice.

"I would like to remind residents to continue to contact us should they witness any suspicious activity, we would rather attend and find everything is in order, than turn up a day later to find someone has become a victim of crime," he said.

Anyone with information about a burglary should contact police on 0300 333 4444 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Store's clothing donation is a gift to the homeless

A CHARITY which provides food and clothing to homeless people locally and in London has received thousands of pounds worth of clothing from a high street retail store.

Volunteers from Harlow Chocolate Run were amazed by the generosity of Debenhams which donated two large boxes of sample clothing.

Chocolate Run organiser Mick Granger described the contribution as "fantastic".

"I would like to thank Debenhams so much for their generosity and for getting involved with this project," he said. "Their contributions are going to make a huge difference to a lot of people's lives. It is fantastic."

Debenhams's deputy chief executive Michael Clarke said: "Debenhams are delighted to be involved with the Chocolate Run.

"We hope that our clothing donation can build on the fantastic work the charity does by literally putting clothing on people's backs."

Laser jobs 'putting lives at risk'

POLICE have warned of the potentially catastrophic consequences of shining laser lights at aircraft following three separate incidents involving planes flying over Harlow.

The incidents, which can carry a prison sentence for anyone found guilty of committing the offence, took place last Monday (July 11), Tuesday and Wednesday between 10pm and midnight.

Officers investigating the reports have appealed for help to bring the culprits to justice.

Because cockpit lights are dimmed during night flights to help pilots' eyes adjust to low light conditions outside the aircraft, laser beams can easily distract and dazzle those in control of the plane.

Anyone with any information relating to the three reported incidents in Harlow is urged to contact police on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Schooldays were some of the best years of our lives

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WHY is it we spend our schooldays impatiently waiting for them to end and the rest of our lives reminiscing about how good it was when we were at school?

Former Burnt Mill pupils have been getting particularly nostalgic these past few weeks since our report about the school's early years ahead of its 50th birthday celebrations in 2012.

Russ Morgan, who now lives in Waterlooville, was one of the 170 children who started at the school when it opened in 1962.

He remembered the day as if was only yesterday, describing it as "an interesting and challenging time for the staff".

Reader Norman Martin (61) helped to unload the first desks and chairs before the term started.

"Things were so different in those days," she said. "We had crisp, new uniforms which most parents struggled to pay for and we were very proud of our school."

Jerounds resident Jill Ames (née Perry), who was in Moore House, said it was strange to not have a year above and always be seniors, while Teresa Piper, who was in Cheshire House, remembers a school trip to Austria and being a "model" in a school fashion catwalk.

Janet Bellamy (previously Patston), who moved to Burnt Mill School from Passmore, recalls some of her more audacious school peers. "I remember some of the ex-Passmore girls tried to get away with mini skirts," she said.

"They didn't get very far though. I also remember the maths teacher Mr Peasy; he was terrifying!"

Ian Brown, of Barn Mead, and Linda Baalham both joined the school in 1963 and said they had nothing but fond memories of their school days.

"There were some excellent teachers and I am still in contact with good friends I made there," wrote Ian. "I also remember being really taken aback by the size of the school and the fact it had a swimming pool."

Thanks to the help of the ex-students, Nostalgia can now reveal the identity of

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Do you remember when an alligator came to school? Lessons passed in a snap for children at Abbotswold Junior in December 1966 when the creature popped in for a visit. The 30-inch long creature had travelled all the way to Harlow from Pan's Garden near the Pennines, along with a tawny owl, chinchilla and a possum.

Clinton Keeling, who owned the private zoo and spent the day teaching the children about nature, was later to become the father of one of the world's foremost primate experts - Jeremy Keeling. Doreen Carlisle, of Old Harlow, supplied Nostalgia with this newspaper clipping as it features her son, Gordon, in the middle. She said she knew nothing about the visit until she saw the picture in the Harlow Citizen some days later.

"Gordon must have been about eight years old then and didn't say anything about it," she said. "It wasn't until I opened the paper and saw him with the alligator that he remembered about his unusual day at school!"

25 years ago

The singer at the centre of the controversial National Anthem 'ban' has expressed his disgust at Harlow Council. The storm arose when the Andy Ross Orchestra played God Save the Queen at the end of his Town Park concert, opposing a 20-year council policy against the song's performance at public events. Ross said he had never heard anything like it.

Harlow Police had to deal with a dangerous escapee last week when a six-foot python was discovered in a block of flats just outside Harlow. Three police officers managed to get the brown and green snake into a cardboard box using a broom handle and took it to a snake breeder in Hoddesdon until the owner could be found.

Pet shop staff at The Stow this week pleaded for the safe return of an eight week old puppy snatched from the store on Friday. The lovable West Highland white puppy was valued at £125. Staff said they were particularly worried as it hadn't had all its injections.

It's a dog's life for pampered pooches

A HOTEL in Worcestershire has been dubbed the 'Ritz for Rovers' because of the five-star treatment it provides for its four-legged guests!

The Riverside Hotel in Evesham prides itself on providing luxury accommodation for guests' pampered pooches, and boasts three special dog bedrooms – each with its own garden.

Head chef Rico Pecho has even created a special menu for his canine customers which can either be enjoyed in the dining room or ordered through room service.

Starters include soup, chicken-liver parfait, crepes and home-made fishcakes, while tasty mains on offer include rib-eye steak, salmon wellington or chicken supreme.

The five-star feast can then be rounded off with either carrot cake, rice pudding or chocolate biscuits.

And if dogs feel a little bloated after their meal, they can cool off and practice their doggie-paddle in a spa pool!

Hotel owner Debbie Sinclair, who owns a Jack Russell called Pepe and six puppies, said catering for dogs had really caught on.

"We've been inundated with inquiries from all over the world," she told reporters.

"In France, all the restaurants allow dogs so why do we have such an issue with it here? Owners like to treat and pamper their dogs."

Head closes book on 38-year career

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A LONG-serving headteacher who helped to transform the fortunes of a Harlow secondary school is about to call time on his 38-year career in teaching.

David Brunwin (62) will stand down from his position at the helm of St Mark's West Essex Catholic School this summer after 17 years in the role.

Despite being told "not to expect much" when he first took over as head at the Tripton Road in 1994, Mr Brunwin has worked hard to raise expectations among staff, pupils and parents.

"I remember when I first got here the level of expectations regarding educational achievement in Harlow was dire and I was told not to expect much," he said this week. "But I have always liked a challenge and knew that if I could get the school environment right then the children would achieve."

"I believe it is about having a sense of community. If children feel like they belong to something then they will be happy and will accomplish to the best of their abilities. This is what we have achieved at St Mark's."

Getting a taste for teaching while working at a school in east London at the age of 19, Mr Brunwin went on to major in English at Lancaster University before completing his training to begin a career teaching the subject.

"I have worked at some very challenging schools in my life but have always found them to be the most rewarding," he said. "However, I am slowing up a bit now and am looking forward to having some time to myself."

The father-of-three says he plans to do some travelling in his retirement, take up cookery and do a masters degree in creative writing at the University of East Anglia.

"It will be sad to say goodbye to the kids and staff but I know I have a fantastic team and couldn't have left the school in better hands. The parents and the pupils have been fantastic and I just hope they feel I have given them something back in return."

He added: "I know St Mark's will only get better and I will miss it like crazy."

Julian returns for jazz band reunion

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

ONE of the UK's foremost jazz musicians makes a hotly-anticipated return to his old stomping ground of Harlow next Thursday (July 28) for a one-off gig at St John's ARC.

Clarinet star Julian Marc Stringle will be reunited with local jazz legend John Petters for what promises to be a red-hot night of jumpin' jazz and sublime swing. A former child prodigy who made his TV debut with the legendary Acker Bilk aged just 14, Julian was educated at the Latymer Music School and the London College of Music, studying clarinet and composition with William Lloyd Webber. He became a regular visitor to Harlow in the early 1980s as a founding member of the John Petters Swing Band.

Then just barely 20, he captured the imagination of an enthusiastic group of fans with his virtuosic flair, playing a series of sold-out gigs at the The Square before performing to a crowd of thousands at a massive open air concert in the Town Park.

His love affair with the town continued for many years, with subsequent gigs including a memorable concert at The Playhouse with American cornet legend Wild Bill Davison, who had played for mob boss Al Capone in the 1920s.

He has since played on concert, club, festival and broadcast dates with his own band and alongside top jazz musicians including Peanuts Hucko, George Chisholm, Don Lusher, Kenny Baker, Dame Cleo Lane and Sir John Dankworth. He has recorded with George Melly, Joe Brown, Chas & Dave and – bizarrely – the Spice Girls, once even sharing a stage with portly soft-rock icon Meatloaf at Wembley Stadium!

His former bandleader John Petters said: "The roots of jazz were always an important ingredient to Julian's approach to music and I'm looking forward to linking up with him again after so many years."

"It's great to have him back in Harlow where he performed so many memorable gigs."

Tickets for Thursday evening's gig, which will also feature piano star Dave Browning and ace of bass Keith Donald, cost £10 on the door. The performance starts at 8pm. For more information, call (01406) 365731.

Turn back the clock for night with the Neurotics

HARLOW'S very own punk polemicists The Newtown Neurotics will prove that Beggars Can Be Choosers when they return to The Square on Saturday to perform their cult debut album in its entirety.

The power trio, who last appeared at the Fourth Avenue venue two years ago, plan to play every song from the 1983 release in the order the tracks first appeared on record as they warm up for an appearance at next month's Rebellion Festival in Blackpool.

Singer, songwriter and guitarist Steve Drewett, who reformed the band in 2006 and has been touring with a new line-up ever since, told the Star the album's scathing social commentary remained unnervingly resonant today.

"From the depiction of Harlow gripped in the teeth of the '80s recession in Newtown People to warnings on the power and corruption of Rupert Murdoch's publishing empire, the songs are surprisingly still very current," he said.

"The band wanted to make music that would inspire people to make a change and as recent national events have shown, we certainly can."

Steve will be joined on stage by Adam Smith on bass and Dave Walsh on drums, with John Kersley – former lighting engineer with The Clash – providing visuals. Support comes from The Filaments frontman Jonny One Lung.

Doors open at 7.30pm and tickets cost £6 in advance from (01279) 305000 or online at www.seetickets.com.

Cars sequel can't keep pace with Pixar's best

CARS 2 (3D)
certificate U, 1h52m

IT had to happen eventually. Disney Pixar, the most consistently dazzling animation studio on the Hollywood block, was always going to struggle to top the fearful elation and misty-eyed farewells of Toy Story 3.

Cars 2 falls short of that modern masterpiece, lacking sufficient heartfelt emotion under the bonnet to really rev our engines in the way that we have come to expect from the mercurial John Lasseter and his team.

For any other studio, this high-octane spy caper would be a triumph, orchestrating some death-defying action sequences that look even more startling in digital 3D.

And certainly young audiences will whoop with glee as tow truck Mater skids and screeches from one disaster to the next while the film's turbocharged characters circumnavigate the globe in the first ever World Grand Prix.

However, compared to Disney Pixar's most recent features – Ratatouille, WALL-E, Up! and Toy Story 3 – this film lacks the polish which perhaps we've taken for granted.

Lightning McQueen (voiced by Owen Wilson) returns home to Radiator Springs as the four-time champion of the Piston Cup. Best friend Mater (Larry The Cable Guy) welcomes him back with open doors, as does girlfriend Sally Carrera (Bonnie Hunt).

Then Italian racing car Francesco Bernoulli (John Turturro) goads Lightning into participating in a newly announced championship organised by environmentalist Miles Axlerod (Eddie Izzard), who will use the grand prix to showcase his state-of-the-art biofuel Allinol.

However, a group of rogue cars led by the diabolical Professor Zundapp (Thomas Kretschmann) is plotting to sabotage the three races in Japan, Italy and the UK.

Cars 2 is a sweet and colourful yarn about being true to yourself. Visuals look spectacular and action sequences have been orchestrated to take full advantage of the 3D format so you feel like you are burning rubber down winding roads at dizzying speed.

TROUBLE AT WORK: Jason Bateman stars as Nick, Charlie Day as Dale and Jason Sudeikis as Kurt in HORRIBLE BOSSES (S)

certificate 15, 1h37m

FOR some people, work is a means to an end – pay the mortgage, fund the children through college, save for the annual holiday.

The nine-to-five grind is tolerable with a caring, considerate and good-humoured boss to turn to in times of need.

However, if the person at the top is going to tread on your fingers every time you try to clamber up a rung on the career ladder, then the only way is down . . . to the pits of despair.

Seth Gordon's black comedy revels in the anguish of three friends who are burdened with bosses from hell. Nick Hendricks (Jason Bateman) is an underling at a finance company ruled with a steely glare by Dave Harken (Kevin Spacey), who has hinted that Nick will be in line for a promotion if he arrives at 6am every day.

But when said promotion fails to materialise, Nick challenges Dave's authority and is left in no doubt as to where he stands.

Kurt Buckman (Jason Sudeikis) loves his job at a company run by Jack Pellitt (Donald Sutherland) until Jack suffers a heart attack and his son Bobby (Colin Farrell) seizes control, gleefully draining the company accounts dry.

Then there is dental assistant Dale Arbus (Charlie Day) who is sexually harassed by his boss, Dr Julia Harris (Jennifer Aniston), who intends to get Dale between the sheets before he marries fiancée Stacy (Lindsay Sloane).

When jailbird Dean Jones (Jamie Foxx) plants the idea of a chain reaction of seemingly accidental deaths, the three men are intrigued. "It's not murder if it's justified," rationalises Kurt.

Some of the set pieces are contrived with a certain pay-off in mind and the characterisation is thin. The plot is equally flimsy and the three screenwriters struggle to bring the murderous mayhem to a satisfying conclusion.

Harry Potter & The Deathly Hallows: Part II (3D & 2D) The final chapter of JK Rowling's epic story opens with Voldemort (Ralph Fiennes) stealing the powerful Elder Wand from Dumbledore's grave. Harry (Daniel Radcliffe), Ron (Rupert Grint) and Hermione (Emma Watson) continue their mission to track down the final Horcruxes which contain fragments of Voldemort's blackened soul. The quest leads to Hogwarts where fellow students Neville Longbottom (Matthew Lewis), Luna Lovegood (Evanna Lynch) and Ginny Weasley (Bonnie Wright) are ready to lay down their lives to protect Harry from the Death Eaters including Draco Malfoy (Tom Felton) and his Slytherin sidekicks.

Transformers: Dark Of The Moon (2D) When a Cybertronian spacecraft crash lands on the Moon in the early 1960s, the crew of Apollo 11 retrieves an important Autobot artefact and returns it to Earth, unaware that the device will spark a titanic war with the Decepticons more than 40 years later. Sam Witwicky (Shia LaBeouf) is caught in the eye of the storm, joined by girlfriend Carly (Rosie Huntington-Whiteley). While Optimus Prime (voiced by Peter Cullen), Bumblebee and the other Autobots protect the humans, field commanders Major Lennox (Josh Duhamel) and Master Sergeant Epps (Tyrese Gibson) spearhead the final stand against the Decepticons, comprising Megatron (Hugo Weaving) and his menagerie of terrifying predators.

Bridesmaids Annie (Kristen Wiig) used to own her own bakery but has now fallen on hard times and works as a jewellery saleswoman. Best friend Lillian (Maya Rudolph) reveals she is getting married and asks a clearly delighted Annie to be maid of honour. Without two dimes to rub together, organising a bridal shower to remember will be tricky for Annie, especially as one of the bridesmaids is socialite wife Helen (Rose Byrne), who splashes the cash as if it is going out of fashion. Fellow bridesmaids Megan (Melissa McCarthy), Becca (Ellie Kemper) and Rita (Wendi McLendon-Covey) witness the fallout as Annie and Helen vie for Lillian's affections.

Rango A lonely chameleon (voiced by Johnny Depp) is stranded in the Mojave Desert where he meets a desert iguana called Beans (Isia Fisher). She takes him to the town of Dirt, which is on the brink of collapse because the water supply is running dangerously low. Wandering into the saloon, the chameleon calls himself Rango and pretends to be a famous gunslinger who killed several critters with a single bullet. The townsfolk are thrilled to have found themselves a hero and Rango becomes the town sheriff. A mouse called Priscilla (Abigail Breslin) believes that Rango will find water and save the community from extinction.

A Turtle's Tale: Sammy's Adventures A greenback sea turtle called Sammy (voiced by John Hurt) looks back on his life, taking us back to the late 1950s when he emerged into the world on a Californian beach and struggled to clamber out of the egg chamber. He discovers the love of his life, the beautiful Shelly (Gemma Arterton), only to lose her to the strong tides. Drifting on the currents, he meets a leatherback turtle called Ray (Robert Sheehan) and they become best friends. As the turtles circumnavigate the globe, they encounter deadly piranhas, a scavenging fish eagle and a Parisian cat called Fluffy (Kayvan Novak), who resents being usurped in his hippy owner's affections.

We're back into football!

Well, sort of but not as before, you will be pleased to learn!

This time we are involved with the true spirit of the game and helping Ben's son's team ALEMITE FC under 8's - a name I remember back in the 70's when I tried to run around and kick a ball.

It's great to see energetic children chasing around for fun and it's a privilege to be of some help to them.

Anyone else out there thinking of ringing me for help, forget it!

It's Renault's Grand design

By Motoring Correspondent

ADMISSIONS time. Although I'm frequently asked to write about family cars and the way they cater to the needs of family users, the only family I can really count upon is a rather fat and self-satisfied tabby who probably doesn't represent the target user when Renault designed the Grand Scenic.

To this end I decided that the next best thing to do was to steal my brother-in-law's family. With temporary wife and children in tow, I could now see how well the Renault shaped up in an almost real world scenario.

Obviously there are limits as to how realistic you need to make this exercise and I felt decidedly self-conscious when we ran into one of my sister-in-law's work colleagues as I was trying to manhandle a foul-smelling child seat into the back of the Grand Scenic.

We got as far as Fleet Services on the M3 before the first stop to clean up a little accident. I have now learned that part of being a responsible family man is not to take the frankly awesome M25 exit slip road at maximum attack because it causes synchronised vomiting from the tots and a lecture from the pretend Mrs Wife. Not good.

The kids liked the Grand Scenic once they had stopped decorating

Renault Grand Scenic 1.5 dCi (£19,400 - £22,300)

the interior with their Happy Meals. Their usual mode of transport is a Mitsubishi Lancer Evo so they probably all have crumbling spines by now and they reckoned the Scenic was far more comfortable.

Okay, so in the realm of road test notes this probably isn't the most shocking revelation, but if you need a car that can soak up the motorway miles while you lace their milkshakes with Calpol, the Renault does extremely well.

I was beginning to wish the journey had finished after the kids decided they wanted Pendulum played at a destructive volume on the Renault's excellent stereo all the way to Southampton.

I'd wondered if the 208 litres of luggage space would be enough but the kids just turned up with iPods and Nintendo DSIs so at least they travelled light.

Our destination was the West Quay shopping complex in Southampton. I'd sold it to the family on the basis of untold entertainments and myriad retail opportunities but the real reason was because I'd heard there was a branch of the American sliced beef franchise Arby's there . . . and I do like sliced beef.

It seemed rather a waste of the excellent rear seats to strap cheap child seats into them, wasting the functionality of the aircraft-style headrests. But kids know what they like and these kids would probably start running riot unless they were firmly lashed down.

I was less nervous sitting in the back of a pick-up with a tranquilised lion in the Masai Mara park in Kenya than navigating south west London with three hectoring kids. They didn't seem that impressed by the Grand Scenic's low-end torque response, either.

The automatic handbrake works well, allowing you to access the rear of the car should one of the children look as if it was about to come loose. The Renault Card central locking was also a boon, although I think I could have staved off a couple of grey hairs had the Grand Scenic been fitted with sliding doors.

I did leave my name and phone number on the windscreen of the Riviera Blue Porsche 911 that now has a creased door panel but have yet to hear anything from the owner's insurers.

Visibility out of the Grand Scenic is very good, chunky door pillars notwithstanding, but I still wouldn't be without the front and rear parking sensors. Actually I could probably manage without the fronts but the rears are a must as visibility to the back can be an issue, especially when kids are trying to distract you with distorted photos of your head taken on a Nintendo DSi.

We folded down the rearmost set of seats after Kelly decided that she couldn't be without a vast shoe repository from IKEA and my journey proved ultimately fruitless after being informed by centre security that the Arby's outlet had gone bust some years previously. Having to settle for Pizza Hut was a poor consolation, made worse when one of the kids mistook the crushed chilli shaker for pot pourri and managed to inhale a few flakes.

Were I a family man, it's hard to think of a much better vehicle than the Renault Grand Scenic 1.5 dCi. I would already be looking at fitting some sort of DVD/entertainment system to keep the kids amused but beyond that it manages the family duties reasonably well.

I even got pretty adept at clipping the kiddie seats in and out of the ISOFIX mount points.

Having dropped off my loan family later that evening, the Renault seemed a little flat, as if I'd deprived it of its raison d'être. Nothing that a slip road taken at inadvisable speed couldn't remedy.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

GB runner Osagie's back with a bang

ANDREW Osagie showed excellent form as he finished just a second outside his personal best (PB) time when he came first in the 800m BMC Gold Race.

The 23-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member, below, clocked 1 min 47.42 secs in the open meeting at Watford.

His PB for the distance is 1:46.41 and his time last Wednesday was .10s faster than it was when he came 4th in the 800m semi-final at the Commonwealth Games in Delhi, India last October, clocking 1:47.52.

The athlete, from Northbrooks, had not been in competitive action since he came 4th in the 800m in 1:48.50 at the European Indoor Championships in Paris in March.

He had picked up an injury in April. Meanwhile, Harlow athletes represented Essex as the men's and women's team swept the board, winning all three trophies (men's, women's and mixed categories) at a Southern Inter Counties meeting in Hemel Hempstead on Sunday.

Defying the blustery and showery conditions Harlow's Markus Hunt won the 400m in 48.63s and anchored as both the 4x100m and 4x400m relay teams stormed to victory.

Harlow AC member Dave Bauer achieved 4th spot in the A string discus with a throw of 39.36m.

Kirsty McIntosh performed well to come third in the pole vault in 3.45m at the AAA England Championships in Bedford on Saturday.

Harlow athletes competed at a Watford open meeting on July 13, recording PBs.

Canaan Solomon (12) won the 800m in 2:16.5 and is now ranked 9th in the UK U-13 boys.

Drew Shiekey (12) clocked 2:32.7 for 5th in the 800m, while Joe Badmus (12), was 11th (2:41.1) in the 800m. Rian McKnight (13) was 5th in the 800m (2:25.7).

Taste of the Orient - and three keepers

Greenwood is set to play against Orient. Hawks' connection with Orient is strong, as Harlow Town co-owner Tom Cunningham played for the O's, while Chapman was a youth team player at Brisbane Road.

Hawks skipper Danny Brown was a popular figure at the O's and was the subject of a £50,000 transfer to London rivals Barnet at the height of his playing career.

Harlow's director of football Kevin Warren, plus right-back Donny Barnard were also at Orient in their earlier days. Chapman said: "I am not sure who Orient will have, but they are a Football League side and they will be good. I'm sure it will be a really good game."

Stow blow for Harlow

and a SNEI overseas exempt form and forged a player's signature on two occasions without that player's knowledge.

"The SNEI disciplinary committee considered this second offence to be most serious, and that the club should be expelled from the SNEI."

Harlow's game at Wickford last Saturday was abandoned because of the rain.

Heskett's men will host Leigh-on-Sea this Saturday.

The skipper added: "We will be at full strength and it's up to us to bounce back from the defeat against Hutton."

SELECTIONS for Harlow Greyhound Stadium this Friday (July 22): 7.30pm Barra Nadiel; 7.45pm Katie The Catch (NB); 8pm Reeve Kay; 8.15pm Buglys Breeze; 8.30pm Barkhams Melody (NAP); 8.45pm Shes Got Loose; 9pm Barra Em; 9.15pm Takeshi Lee; 9.30pm Malibu Duke; 9.45pm Crackling Rose; 10pm Finished Up; 10.15pm Gold Eagle.

Golfer youngest club champ ever

JOHN Withington's class was emphasised as he became the youngest person to win the men's open at Canons Brook Golf Club.

The 14-year-old Stewards School student won the two-round event last weekend after firing rounds of 77 and 72.

John, who has a handicap of 1.5, finished four shots ahead of Colin Ledwith, who was second after rounds of 80 and 73.

The first round was marked by heavy rain which made conditions treacherous.

Mark Smith, John's coach and head professional at the Elizabeth Way club, said: "I'm more pleased than surprised. If he played well, I knew he could win it.

"Everybody did well to finish the first round on Saturday. It did not stop raining."

Smith has coached John, of Linford End in Harlow, since he was just four years old.

He said: "He three putted on the ninth and tenth holes. His putting was okay. His tee to green work was superb."

"He was three under for the last eight holes."

Some 33 golfers competed in the event.

The previous youngest winner was Steve Jones when he was 15 in 2007.

Passmores lose in Stort final

John Warner 146-2, Passmores School 68

Passmores lost by 78 runs
Stort Trophy final

THERE was only one side in it as Passmores slipped to a heavy defeat at the hands of Hoddesdon's John Warner School in the Stort Trophy final.

The sides were made up of Year 7 and 8 boys (aged 11-13).

John Warner batted first in Thursday's match at Harlow Town Cricket Club and scored 146-2 in 16 overs.

Maughan (41) and Mason (33) played the main knocks for Warner, while Jake Messenger (1-46) and Evan Tulloch (1-14) were Passmores' main wicket takers.

In reply, the Tendring Road secondary struggled and were bowled out for 68.

Sreerag Radhakrishnan was the only Passmores player to reach double figures with 19, while there were 39 extras.

Under the rules of the competition two runs are awarded for a wide or a no ball, rather than one.

BRAVE EFFORT: The Passmores School team which lost the Stort Trophy final (HSP0754367)

Eight schools took part in the competition and had been split into two groups of four.

Passmores had earlier beaten King Harold School (Waltham Abbey) in the semi-final after they had defeated three Harlow schools: Mark Hall, St Mark's and Burnt Mill in the group stage.

The final had been delayed due to rain.

Passmores sports teacher Dan Hawkins said: "The team have worked hard and been dedicated but came a little short in the final."

● ALL four of Harlow Town's teams were unable to play Herts & Essex Cricket League because of heavy rain on Saturday.

Town's first team remain top of division one and are 11 points ahead of second-placed Theydon Bois.

Only two matches escaped the elements, although Potter Street II were deducted 20 points after they were unable to raise a side for a game at Matching II in division six.

Penguins quartet shine

FOUR Harlow Penguins swimmers reached finals, while a series of personal best (PB) times were achieved at the Braintree and Bocking Summer Sprint Gala.

He also came 4th in the 50m butterfly and swam a PB in the 50m backstroke (40.02s).

Luke Guerrati (14) gained a bronze medal in the 50m butterfly in a PB time of 31.31s. He also reached the final of the 50m freestyle.

Amy Edwards (12) swam three PBs. She was 7th in the finals of the 50m backstroke (39.56s) and 50m butterfly (39.58s). Her other PB was in the 100m individual medley (1 min 26.92s).

Jasmine Hind (13) swam PBs in the 50m breaststroke (40.76s, 5th), and the 50m backstroke (40.26s).

'Stow blow for Harlow

By DAVID RIMMER

LUKE Heskett has said his Harlow side have to react positively after division two rivals Walthamstow were expelled from the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League for serious rule breaches.

The decision was made last Thursday after Walthamstow falsified information to allow an overseas cricketer to play for them.

The East London club have said they will not appeal.

A League committee was due to meet last night (Wednesday) to decide how matches involving Walthamstow will be treated.

If matches are to be discarded second-placed Harlow will be affected more than the teams immediately around them.

Harlow gained 18 points from a victory against Walthamstow, then in third place, nearly a fortnight ago.

Current leaders Southend-on-Sea only gained three points after losing to 'Stow.

Fourth-placed Old

Southendians gained six from their abandonment against Walthamstow.

If the East Londoners' results are completely discarded, as expected, this would leave Southend on 154 points followed by Harlow on 138 and Old Southendians on 114. Two sides are set to be promoted.

The Harlow captain, above, said: "Whatever action they take it's going to affect us."

"It's just something we cannot do much about. We just have to roll up our sleeves and go and win our remaining games."

He added: "If we can win our remaining games we cannot be caught."

A statement from the League said: "Walthamstow's expulsion will take effect immediately and they will not be playing any further fixtures in the SNEL [Shepherd Neame Essex League], nor in any other competitions organised by the SNEL. "Walthamstow CC have appeared before the disciplinary committee on two occasions during the 2011 season.

"Both of these hearings related to breaches of Regulation 9.3 of the organisation and playing conditions of the SNEL, related to overseas players.

"The first hearing on Thursday 2nd June 2011 found Walthamstow guilty of playing two overseas players in 13 matches in SNEL 1st XI division three during the 2010 season.

"The second hearing on Tuesday 5th July 2011 found Walthamstow guilty of playing two overseas players in 13 matches in SNEL 1st XI division two during the 2009 season.

"However, during investigations into the second breach of this regulation it became apparent that club officials had falsified information on an ECB overseas player registration form

Roget calls time on Hawks career

SKIPPER Leo Roget has quit Hawks for family reasons, forcing boss Danny Chapman to step his hit hunt for more options at centre-half.

The former Southend United player, who will be 34 in August, told Chapman he was stepping down as he wants to spend more time with his young son.

Roget, who runs his own hairdressing salon in Harlow, felt that he could not commit to training sessions, while also playing matches at weekends which meant he had even less time to spend with his family.

"I am not playing football next season for family reasons," Roget told the Star. "To train Tuesday and Thursday and then play on a Saturday I was never going to fit it all in. I don't live with [my son] and I want to spend more time with him."

Roget has had two spells as Harlow but started 28 games last season when the side reached the play-off semi-finals before bowing out to eventual winners Wingate & Finchley.

Chapman has Lee Gledhill and former Hawks player-boss Ryan Kirby at the back. Donny Barnard could also play at centre-half.

Roget added: "I spoke to Chappo [Chapman] in the week. I said he won't need me and Kirbs [Kirby] at the same time. I was going to play another year or two but obviously my son comes first."

An amiable and popular figure at the Barrows Farm club, Roget is not completely retiring and will consider playing again next year or in 2013.

The powerful 6ft 1ins centre-half made 122 appearances for Southend in the Football League. He also played for Stockport County (31 appearances), Reading (1), Brentwood (29), Rushden & Diamonds (18) and Oxford United (68 appearances).

"I will miss playing football and the atmosphere. When I spoke to Danny it was on good terms. I will still come into training. They need people next season who are 110 per cent committed," Roget added.

Chapman said: "He's been a great servant to the club. With the system we are looking to play this year he might have struggled to play every week."

Meanwhile, Harlow have signed centre-half Jack Haveson.

He was at Maldon & Tiptree United last year and will provide competition to Gledhill and Kirby.

Chapman is also looking at Waltham Abbey defender Amin Ibrahim.

Taste of Orient - and 3 keepers!

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman will run the rule over three players as he seeks to fill the goalkeeping vacancy ahead of Tuesday's plum friendly against Leyton Orient (7.45pm KO). Chapman is looking at Adam Rafis (ex-Romford), former Harlow Town guardian Ashley Harris, as well as youngster Bert Greenwood, who played for Bishop's Stortford at the start of last season.

Harlow Town's manager already has Jayden Purdue and former first teamer Michael Dumoulin in pre-season training but is looking for a number one.

Chapman said: "I want to see them in action in games. People have spoken highly of Adam while Ashley has looked good in training."

"Bert Greenwood has played for Bishop's Stortford and the feedback I get from Steve Walduck [HTFC goalkeeping coach] is good. I'm looking to sign at least one of them."

Chapman said Harris and Rafis will get 45 minutes each in Harlow's opening friendly against Blue Square Bet Premier side Braintree Town this Saturday.

Midfielder Dave Cowley, who rejected an offer to go to Braintree in the close season, will not feature. "Dave missed the first six [training] sessions because of holiday and he needs to do more running first. We do not want him to pick up an injury," said Chapman. "They [Braintree] will provide a good test and give us an idea of how fit we are."
